

Mohammed Daud
Professor Drescher
BA Fall 2024
10/16/2024

SET THE TABLE FOR DINNER

1) Reframing the Question

How should i set the table for dinner for my family

2) Identifying the metrics:

1. Is the table clean?
2. How many people are eating?
3. Do we have enough plates
4. Do we have enough spoons, forks, and napkins?
5. Do we have enough chairs?
6. What time are we eating dinner?
7. Do we have enough glasses?
8. What kind of water or drink does everybody drink?
9. Is everybody going to eat dinner together?
10. Do we have enough pot pads?
11. Are we going to have dessert afterwards?
12. Do I have extra bowls and spoons for dessert afterwards?
13. How big are the tables, plates, poons, forks, and napkins and chairs?
14. What day are we eating?
15. When are we eating?
16. What order do we get our food in?
17. How much time does it take for each of us to eat?

3) Retrieve/Collect the data:

1. I retrieve the data from the kitchen, to see if I have all the necessities.
2. I ask my parents if any guests are coming over.
3. I ask my parents what we are eating and if we are having dessert afterwards.
4. I ask my family members what type of water they like to drink, cold or warm.
5. We are a family of 7, Mom and Dad, 2 younger brothers and sisters.
6. 7 plates, 7 cups of water, at home we traditional eat with our hands
7. My family eats around 10 pm, but me and my brother eat separately, I eat around 11pm

8. How much each person eat depends on the day. If we eat on Tuesday, that is normally the day my mom makes something special. So we eat more on that day.

4) Data preparation/ Organize the data

1. Each person would eat 1 plate of food that mainly consists of rice and meat.
2. Each person would take like 10 minute
3. Normally the special meal is in the afternoon around 3-4
4. So I'll eat separately at this time while my brother eats with the rest of the family.
5. My family normally watches a film or the news while they eat.
6. My father get served first and my mother starts eating last
7. We all clean our plate
8. The cloth is already set, all i have to do is clean up

5) Doing the analysis/ Find a relationship

1. We eat special food on the days that my dad is home
2. We eat together while watching something on the tv on the living room.
3. We take 10 minutes roughly to eat

6) What's the story:

1. Me and my family eat 1 plate of food that consists of rice and meat called biryani on Tuesday because my dad is home. Normally we eat something new/ special because my dad is home. Each person takes 10 minutes to eat. Everyone eat together in the living room but me because I am a fool.
2. So that means I should come before 3-4 and clean and step up the table before everyone comes and eats. Set up the tables by cleaning the tables and and wash the plate and call everyone to have lunch.